Dear Readers,

When preparing the Dec/Jan issue of the Barton Miller in November, the February issue seemed a long way off, but, with so much going on over Christmas and New Year (including visitors), time seems truncated and we are there already, with a whole host of events to be considered for 2016 - for which, every good wish.

I am delighted to report that our Special Collection for The Children's Society at the Carol/Christingle Service on Christmas Eve topped anything we had ever collected previously at this event. We were able to send a cheque to the Society for £840 to help their wonderful work. As some of the offerings were Gift Aided they should be able to claim a little back from the "tax man" too. A big thank you to all who gave so generously.

Please submit copy for the March Miller by the 20th February - or earlier if possible - as February is a short month.

Yours sincerely Joy Willis.

Vicar's Letter

Be Discontent for Lent

Dear Friends

Have you ever noticed how the more we have, the more dissatisfied we are? I remember when I bought my TV about 10 years ago it seemed huge, but now I complain that it's so small I can hardly see what's on the screen. A friend loved her new job when she first got it a couple of years ago, but now she complains that it's dull and underpaid. I once met a woman in Africa who had willingly walked for two days in the hope of paying all she had to see a doctor, while more recently I met a woman in Mildenhall who complained bitterly about a 20 minute wait for free treatment at her local surgery. I'm not criticising - quite probably if the African woman was introduced to readily-available healthcare she too would soon begin to complain at being made to wait. We all get used to good things very quickly, and we just want more. Human beings seem to be programmed to have ever-increasing expectations, and to be eternally dissatisfied with what they have.

It might sound as if I think this is a bad thing, but actually I don't. This hard-wired discontent with the way things are is at the heart of all the progress we make as human beings. I think God gave it to us. As the dancer Martha Graham said it's this 'divine discontent, this blessed unrest that keeps us marching onward...' If we weren't discontented with illness we wouldn't research new cures; if we weren't discontented with world poverty we wouldn't fight for justice. But like many things in life, this instinctive impulse can be directed in negative ways or positive ways. We can complain about things, or we can work to change them. We can get fed up or we can get motivated.

The Christian season of Lent is all about refusing to be content with the way things are. It's about being discontented with half-heartedness and mediocrity and about pushing on towards something better. Lent is the perfect time to tap into that deep human instinct for wanting more – to live life deeper, fuller and stronger. To demand more of ourselves. To open ourselves up more to God.

People always ask me what I'm giving up for Lent. But you know what? I'm dissatisfied with just giving things up ... I'm going to be discontent for Lent.

Love Sandie x

BARTON MILLS BAPTIST CHURCH

After the “hub-bub” of Christmas and New Year we now arrive at the second month of 2016. We live in a diverse society and each of us celebrated the New Year in different ways. In Japan, people dress in new clothes and decorate their houses with bamboo and pine branches – symbols of long life. In Scotland, groups of friends or families get together for dinner at a host’s house and exchange gifts soon after midnight and in Greece the children leave shoes by the fireplace hoping St Basil will fill them with gifts. I like to look through any photographs I have taken during the year and reflect on my accomplishments or failures during that time.

Whatever the case, the dawning of a New Year provides us with an excellent opportunity to wipe the slate clean and make a fresh start. As humans we often wish we could see what lies around the corner in life. Then we could prepare for it, control it, or avoid it. As a wise person once said, “Though we can’t see around corners, God can”. How much better and reassuring that is! As we close the chapter of 2015 and begin a new year, we can place ourselves – and all our yesterdays and tomorrows – safely in His care. What a joy it is to know that God knows it all – every trial, every hardship, every crisis lurking in 2016. Nothing will take Him by surprise. No coup, no revolution, no threat to world peace will upset His plans for this fragile, strife-ridden planet. His timetable is right on schedule and He holds the reigns of sovereign rule firmly in His mighty hands. How comforting this is as we enter 2016. The letter to the Hebrews Chapter 13 v 5 confirms the promise that God will never leave us nor forsake us, how’s that for a promise to take into the New Year?

WE CAN TRUST OUR ALL KNOWING GOD FOR THE UNKNOWN FUTURE.

Our services remain the same: Bible Study at 7.30p.m. on Thursdays (Call 01638-713892 for Location) and Sunday School and Bible Study on Sundays at 11a.m, or the Worship Services at 3p.m. and 6.30p.m. Why not join us at one of these events, you will be made most welcome.

BARTON MILLS W I - NEWS AND INFORMATION

January Report: There was a lot going on during our first meeting of the new year! We had three different activities - a flower arranging demonstration, a card school & a hands-on card making session. All of these hobbies were shown to us by some of the very talented ladies in our group. One photo shows our most senior member, Beryl Williams, who celebrated her 90th birthday last week. After our activities we were treated to a choice of five delicious home made soups - just the ticket on such a freezing cold night.

Our next meeting at the village hall will be on Tuesday February 9th at 7.30pm. Our programme for the evening includes Bring & Buy together with short talks from a Befriending Service and Hospice neighbours.

We extend a warm welcome to all to come & join us. Take a look at our website to see the exciting activities we have lined up for 2016!

THE PRESERVATION TRUST CORNER

Welcome to the regular new page for the Trust, where we hope not just to keep you re-minded of current events but also to share snippets from the history of the Church.

Let There Be (Electric) Light!

Amongst the papers held in the Suffolk Records Office that concern St. Mary's is a faculty (permission to alter the fabric of the church) granted on the 27th November, 1928. It is a very grand document with imprints and seals and it reads, in part:

To all Christian People to whom these Presents shall come or whom the same shall or may concern, Greeting. Whereas it hath been set forth and alleged before us by a petition addressed to us by The Rev. Charles Henry Lacon Rector of Barton Mills in the County of Suffolk that it is proposed to install Electric Light in the Parish Church of St. Mary Barton Mills of aforesaid, in the place of Oil Lamps.

The Suffolk Record Office also holds the Minute Book of the Barton Mills Parochial Church Council (PCC). In a tabulation of work carried out under the incumbency of Rev. Lacon it notes as follows:

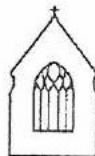

1928: Electric Lighting installed in the church - £48 7s 11½

What's on in Freckenham February 2016 -

Freckenham Film Nights £5 a ticket no need to book just turn up – Suffragette (12) will be the first film of the 2016 season. Showing on Friday, 5th February, this acclaimed true-story drama tracks the story of the foot soldiers of the early feminist movement, women who were forced underground to pursue a dangerous game of cat and mouse with an increasingly brutal State. These women were not primarily from the genteel educated classes, they were working women who had seen peaceful protest achieve nothing. Radicalised and turning to violence as the only route to change, they were willing to lose everything in their fight for equality - their jobs, their homes, their children and their lives. Boasting a stellar group of actors, including Carey Mulligan, Anne-Marie Duff, Helen Bonham-Carter, Brendan Gleeson and Meryl Streep. Running time 1 hour 46 minutes. Doors open at 7pm before the film starts at 7.30. Bar stays open throughout for top-ups. 4th March Addicted to Sheep (PG)
